English Translation by Henry Moody, 1862.

Brestone in the Brocton Hundred, coincides with Thorngate Hundred

The King holds Brestone, Broughton, and King Edward held it in demesne. The number of hides is not known. Here are 2 ploughlands in demesne, and 8 villeins and 11 borderers with 4½ ploughlands; also 4 freemen, 3 mills worth 27/6d. 50 acres of meadow, and woods for 3 hogs. The value of what belongs to this manor in the time of King Edward and afterwards, was £76.16.8 and now £66; but pays £104.12.2d. There belongs to the manor a wood, which is in the hands of Bishop Walkelin, but it is not settled who is the true owner. A certain portion of land was given in the time of King Edward in exchange for a mill belonging to this manor; but the bailiff, in the time of King William, resumed the mill, and retains both it and the above portion of land.

In the same Hundred is Dean which is joined to this manor. Here is one ploughland in demesne; and 2 villeins and 14 borderers with 1½ ploughlands, also 2 servants. 2 mills worth 20s. 4 acres of meadow and woods for 3 hogs.

Belonging to this manor the king has in Wallop, 5 villeins, 1 servant, a mill worth 30d, 2 ploughlands in demesne; and -- freemen, and 3 husbandmen discharge the accustomed duties.

Formerly the bailiff had the honey and pasture belonging to the above manor, and also timber for house-building, but now the foresters enjoy the privilege. The honey and pasture in the King's forest are worth 10s each.

(The parish of Broughton which includes the Domesday manors of Bentley and Pittleworth have an area of 4356 acres.)

Chirges Camp - Richardus holds King's Camp (now Norman Court) of the Bishop. (Norman Court, the seat of T. Baring Esq. M.P. is the place where the delegates of the Saxon population of the west, assembled at Old Sarum, attested to render homage to the Norman Conqueror and, in feudal phrase, according to the testimony of the Saxon Chronicler "became his men.")

Mulcetone (Michelton). Edmund holds Michelton of the King, and his father held one yardland of King Edward, for which another yardland was given him in exchange by Walter Gifard, and Sceva held it allodially of King Edward. It was then as now assessed at ½ a hide. Here is 1 ploughland in demesne with 1 borderer. It was, and is now, worth 5s.

Puteorde (Pittleworth) Here Humphry, the Chamberlain, holds Pittleworth and Uluod held it allodially of King Edward. It was assessed at 3½ hides, and now at 1½ hides. Here are 3 ploughlands in demesne, and 2 borderers. Its value in the time of King Edward and afterwards was as now, 60s.
